

Scholarship – Disability Matters

Over the next six years, we are holding several online meetings. These meetings will be put into subjects, such as:

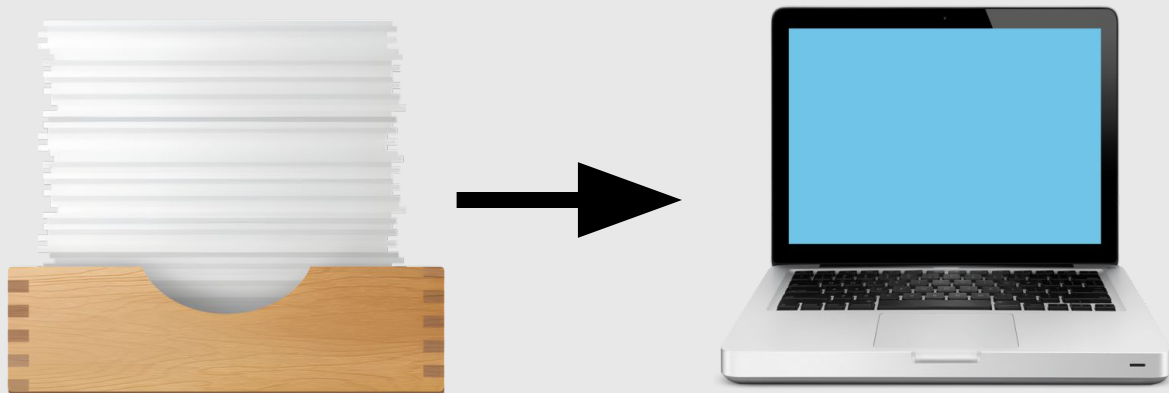

- Theory
- Priority
- Method
- Practice
- Representation
- Culture

At these meetings, there will be lots of people who are disability activists.

Everyone who is involved will be asked to write 1,500 words before the meeting starts.

At the meeting, everyone who had written the 1,500 words will share it with everyone else.

After the meeting, all the writing will be collected and put onto a computer, as part of the Disability Matters scholarship collection.

We will help put together and give presentations about disability, that show the work of disabled researchers in disability studies.

There will be 2 three-day international conference. This means there will be meetings in different countries. These will be:

- Online
- Face to face
- Hybrid this means online and face to face.

An Institute of

These meetings will be held in Singapore and Sheffield.

In Singapore, the meeting will be about disability matters in health research. The meeting in Sheffield will be about the future of disability in health research.

University of Sheffield

From each meeting, there will be a written report saying everything that happened.

This will include who was there and what was said at the meetings.

